WELCOME TO 2019!

I hope this finds all of you doing well in the new year.

The National Board of Directors and the Executive Director met in Kansas City the weekend of Jan. 13. So much great work was done, and we are looking forward to the season.

Some of the points of interest for the organization are:

- 👉 We plan to continue enhancing communication within USTA implementing "Town Hall" opportunities for the entire membership.
- 👉 Increasing transparency and communication; continuing our aim for a healthier culture within our association.
- 👉 USA Tour: Linda Boss is the Tour Coordinator and she reports that sign up for the tour has been closed due to the over-whelming response to registration. We currently have 472 people on the tour. The entire IC & Grand Prix team and spectators will, for the very first time, be on the USA Tour together!
- 👉 The IBTF event in France this summer will include majorettes.
- 👉 iTwirl19 will take place Columbus Day Weekend, October 12-13, 2019, in White House, Tennessee (30 minutes from Nashville). The gym and facilities are superb. Board members John Chamberlain and Jason Lee will co-direct this bi-annual convention, supported by board member Sheri Carter.
- 👉 Jason Lee, John Chamberlain and Thomas Breuckman continue their good efforts via outreach programs in Alaska, Illinois and Puerto Rico. Each situation is unique, but in each situation, there are efforts being made to support twirling and enhance participation in the sport and in USTA. Efforts will be made in each location to support coaches and athletes and to help them in their efforts to grow or revitalize programs in the area.
- 👉 Board member Sheri Carter was tasked to identify Community Service ~ Helping Hand opportunities for USTA athletes. We are working on some ways to recognize athletes doing community service.
- 👉 Winners of the very first "Creative Challenge" were selected. Look for articles presenting the two fabulous winners. Congratulations Grace Wennerberg of Indiana and Elaine Jones from Illinois, this years' recipients.
- 👉 USTA will proudly sponsor the 2019 Twirl Mania welcome party.
- 👉 USTA is establishing an Athletes' Committee. Please see page 7 for more information.

These are just a sampling of the good work being done by the board, department leaders and the executive director. We hope you are as excited about our future as we are. Please feel free to contact me, any board member, department director or our executive director if/when you have questions or suggestions.

Have a great season!

Best Regards,

Karen Cammer

At the 61st Anniversary U.S. National Baton Twirling Championships

Twirling dreams will take off this July, when USTA hosts the 61st Anniversary U.S. National Baton Twirling Championships, July 10-13, in Fairborn, Ohio, a suburb of Dayton. The area is an aviation mecca, rich with aviation history and innovation. (Learn about the area's aviation and other attractions on page 11.)

USTA is excited to debut a new, four-day format for these National Championships, which will be held at Wright State University, home to the annual Winter Guard International (WGI) Sport of the Arts World Championships.

The U.S. PreTrials, National individual and group events, and the Collegiate Championships will be held in the Nutter Center arena, while the Festival of the Future individual and group events will be held in the adjacent McLin Gym. (See the event schedule below.)

"This four-day format will make it easier for athletes, families, coaches and judges to enjoy Nationals and Festival with less time away from home and work, less money spent on food and accommodations, and more time to enjoy summer," said USTA President Karen Cammer.

USTA has hired Sarah Enos as the National Competitions Director and Chelsearae Gerardino as the Festival of the Future Coordinator. Get to know them through a quick Q&A on pages 4 and 5. They are working closely with USTA's Board of Directors, Executive Director Alison LaFerlita and the national contest staff to implement procedures and communications processes to ensure the quality, integrity and enjoyment of both competitions for everyone involved.

Online entry forms for Nationals and Festivals individual and group events will be available soon on the USTA website. The entry deadline is 11:59 p.m. Pacific Daylight Time on Wednesday, May 1, 2019.

Be sure to watch your email, the USTA website and social media channels for updates and detailed information as we get closer to the 61st U.S. National Baton Twirling Championships!

Meet SARAH ENOS National Competitions Director

Enos and daughter Lexi.

Revolution Twirl Club after the 2018 Western Regional Team Competition

USTA: Where you are from? Where do you live now?

Enos: I was born and raised in Fremont, Calif. and I currently reside in Sacramento, Calif.

USTA: What you do for a living?

Enos: I am technical trainer for a major medical company. This includes training new hires on medical billing and accounts receivables for both hospital billing and professional billing.

USTA: Tell us a little bit about yourself and your family.

Enos: I have two wonderful kids, ages 5 and 13. They both fill my after-work time with their activities, which I would not change! Watching them grow into their own personalities and sports has been amazing to watch. When I am not with my children, I enjoy spending time with friends, traveling and finding new adventures to pursue.

USTA: What is your twirling background?

Enos: I have been involved in the sport of baton twirling for the past 32 years. I was competitive from the age of three to the age of 16. In 2001, I was on the U.S. World Team as a junior freestyle athlete. Since, then, I have transitioned into the professional side of baton twirling which now includes coaching for a local competitive club, judging and being a part of the Technical Department.

USTA: Why did you want to serve as the National Competitions Director?

Enos: I was interested in the NCD position to bring a new perspective to the competition and to bring my other areas of knowledge for the new national schedule format.

Show Corp competition in 1991.

USTA: What are you looking forward to at Nationals?

Enos: I am looking forward to the new competition format which I believe will better serve our members and help us share our sport with a broader audience.

USTA: What can our members look forward to at Nationals?

Enos: Our members can look forward to continued excellence and an inviting atmosphere which will also help us welcome athletes from other twirling organizations.

Gerardino: I'm originally from Long Island, New York but I am currently in Dallas, Texas.

USTA: What you do for a living?

Gerardino: I am a fourth grade teacher.

USTA: Tell us a little bit about yourself and your family.

Gerardino: I am 27 years old, in my second year teaching and my third year in Dallas. I love spending time with my niece and nephew whenever I get the chance.

USTA: What is your twirling background?

Gerardino: I have twirled and coached with Karen Cammer on and off over the last 22 years. I have been lucky enough to participate in events like twirling in the Macy's Thanksgiving Day Parade, traveling to Canada for the International Cup and briefly twirling in college at Pace University.

USTA: Why did you want to serve as the Festival of the Future Coordinator, what are you looking forward to at FOF, and what can our members look forward to?

Gerardino: I think this two gym format is going to be extremely exciting and I can't wait to see how it unfolds! I'm very excited to get a chance to be a part of this new competition format and to have the opportunity to work with such an incredible team.

NO LIMITS FOR MONAHANS HIGH SCHOOL TWIRLERS

Like many high school twirlers, Hope Santiago loves performing for her school, Monahans High School in Monahans, Texas.

"The best thing about it is going out there and performing and showing everyone what you can do," said Santiago, who is a freshman this year.

She and her fellow twirler, Cheyenne Simonton, who is also a freshman, perform at parades, pep rallies and football games with the MHS Lobo Marching Band. They do one, two and three baton and a variety of partner exchanges, which always impress the hometown fans, as well as those from the opposing schools.

"They're just amazed," Santiago said. "They come up to us and say 'Oh my gosh, you're so awesome. That's amazing!'"

Part of the reason their performances are so impressive is the fact that Santiago performs from her wheelchair. She was born with a condition called Caudal Regression Syndrome, a disorder that impairs the development of the lower, or caudal, half of the body.

"I'm missing some of my spine and my pelvic bones," Santiago explained matter-of-factly. "So I don't have hip muscles and I'm not able to stand at all."

But that didn't stop her from starting baton twirling at age seven with coach Cari Cutbirth-Martinez, director of Famous Wolf Twirling in Monahans.

"Hope does not let her disability define her in any way," said Cutbirth-Martinez. "She wants to do everything, try everything. She is one of the most courageous kids I've ever met."

Santiago says Martinez always treats her the same way she treats all of her twirlers.

"I'm just the same as all of the other girls," Santiago said.

Martinez encouraged Santiago to try out for twirler at her high school, where she was paired with Simonton last fall. They've known each other since elementary school, but had never twirled together. Santiago says she is grateful to have Simonton as a twirling partner.

"It's going really good," she said. "Cheyenne treats me as an equal."

Baton twirling is just one of Santiago's many and varied interests. She has an artistic side and loves drawing and painting. She's also a multi-sport athlete who competes in wheelchair racing and shot put through the Texas Regional Para Sport organization. Nothing if not humble, Santiago left it to her mother, Stella, to mention that Hope has competed nationally the past two years, winning a total of ten gold medals and breaking two national records, one in wheelchair racing and the other in shot put.

"I so proud of her!" Stella Santiago said. “She’s a go-getter, let me tell you! She doesn’t let anything stop her!”

Hope Santiago has big goals for her future too. After high school, she plans to attend college and pursue a career as a pediatrician. Over the years, she has been inspired by the doctors and nurses who have treated her, and she wants to help children who face challenges like she has.

“Since I’m in a wheelchair and went through it, I can help them out and guide them through things,” Santiago said.

She hopes that everyone will try to live their lives without limits.

“My message to everybody is whether you have a disability, or don’t have a disability, go out there and do whatever you’d like to do.”

USTA launches new Level II Judges Workshop

USTA has developed a new, hybrid Level II Judges Workshop that will make it easier for more people to participate in Level II Judges training. The hybrid training features a one-day, in-person workshop preceded by an online educational module that participants complete prior to the in-person workshop. USTA still offers the traditional, two-day, in-person Level II Judges Workshop.

"We recognized that a two-day workshop was challenging for some of our members to participate in because of travel time and costs," said Kathy Butera Fanney, USTA Judges Department Director. "We wanted to use technology to make it easier for more of our members to participate in, and be better prepared for, the Level II Judges Workshop. This educationally sound training provides our students with the convenience of online learning coupled with a face-to-face collaborative learning environment."

Led by Butera Fanney, the Judges Department worked with Monica Lee, USTA's Media and Technology Specialist, to develop a Level II online learning module, which helps prepare members for the Level II in-person workshop. Members can complete the online module at their own pace prior to participating in the in-person workshop.

That's what USTA Professional member Alexandra Beresford did last fall.

"I really enjoyed that I could do half the course on my own time, usually late at night on weekends," Beresford said. "After finishing the online portion, I think reviewing the material in class with the instructor and other class members really solidified the lessons. The in-class time was invaluable for learning and becoming a better judge, coach and twirler, but I think the online portion helped cover the basics of the material so the in-class time could be used most effectively."

After completing the online module, Beresford attended the first-ever, one-day, Level II workshop, which was beta-tested during a workshop hosted by the Colorado Baton Council on Nov. 10, 2019. Clinician Krystal Mignone, who has taught dozens of Level II and Level III Judges Workshops, thought the new format worked well.

"I was extremely impressed with how well-prepared all of the attendees were for this workshop," Mignone said. "We were able to zero in on the practical judging and testing scenarios with very fruitful and lively discussions. As it was our first time piloting the hybrid workshop, I was not sure what to expect. So I let the attendees drive the pace. I definitely feel as though this new format will make it easier for people to attain their certification."

In January, the Arizona Council also hosted the new, one-day Level II workshop, which is now available to all councils and workshop sponsors. For more information about the new Level II Workshop, contact Judges Department Director Kathy Butera Fanney at kathy@ustwirling.com

Meet TAMARA ABEYTA

Coaches Department Director

Abeyta and Cinderella in 2013, when The Movement Twirlers performed on the Hollywood Backlot Stage at Disneyland.

A 2018 performance at the YMCA.

I started my twirling career in Phoenix, Arizona. I was 11 years old and was coached by Tammy Armstrong. After Tammy moved to a different state, I traveled once a month to Calif. to work with Sharon Campbell and Beverly Johnson. That was a wonderful journey.

After a year of wonderful travels we finally went to a USTA competition in Arizona and we were hooked. I started lessons with Vicki Pfeiffer and never looked back. I only twirled competitively for seven years, but my love of twirling grew as I grew. I was a senior in high school and was being scouted by many schools. Never in my wildest dreams did I think I would attend Northern Arizona University, but my team performed at one of the NAU basketball games and the pep band assistant happened to watch me perform. He offered me a scholarship on the spot. I have been the only NAU Twirler to ever receive a scholarship. Also, my freshman year of college, I was the Arizona Cardinals Twirler, which they scouted to find someone to twirl for them in the western part of the US.

I twirled all four years at NAU and graduated with a Bachelor of Science degree in Business Management with a minor in Communications. I worked for Citizens Against Substance Abuse who helped me start The Movement Baton Twirlers. I was also the D.A.R.E. spokesperson and traveled and twirled all over Arizona to encourage children stay off drugs, etc. I believe if a child stays busy and has goals they will stay on track. This is why I am a full-time coach today. I have started twirling programs in every high school in Northern Arizona. My group has performed and traveled all over the United States. I love the sport of baton twirling and coaching twirlers every day.

I wanted to be the Coaches' Department Director because I love to coach and want our wonderful sport to continue to grow. I also want to share my knowledge of how to create a successful twirling group and how to teach each student by age and progression. I am going to continue the work of Kathy Forsythe, my predecessor in the Coaches'

Department, and I would like to open up more communication with our younger and newer coaches. I am looking forward to talking with people and learning from them too. Coaches need to work together.

Former students Brenna Tadder (left), who twirled at the University of Arizona, and Kayla Wilcox (right), now assist Abeyta. "I could not do this without these two," Abeyta said.

We all have the same types of struggles and joys and can help each other handle them in a brighter way.

I have been married for 25 years and have two boys: Tanner, who is 17 and Trey, who is 15. My husband, Mike, and I both say we work in fun and building our youth. He is the director of the hockey rink in Flagstaff.

You can reach Tamara at coaches@ustwirling.com.

The Abeyta family in 2017. L to R: Mike Abeyta, Tanner Abeyta (now 17), Trey Abeyta (now 14) and Tamara Abeyta.
